THE ROAD
by Eugene Mackey,

My weary feet follow the road,
though I know not where it leads.
For miles and miles I walk along,
on its white lines my foot feeds.

Some day I will reach the end,
just when I cannot say;
For there is always a farther curve,
and another Inn in which to stay.

During these high school years, we wonder many times why we are here, what is in store for us, and if "it is all worth it." Occasionally, the detours, roadblocks, and rough roads make it seem to be a futile effort.

However, for those who are willing to steer through these sharp curves and ride over the rough terrain, an adult human being evolves—a Homo Sapien destined to be a minute but positive force in a complex society.

Those who have questioned, pondered, researched, and sought out the seemingly unimportant part of school (referred to by professionals as curriculum) will be the leaders in our society. Those who have wondered WHY instead of WHAT are destined to be persons with the answers for the future!

Whatever route this road takes you, adulthood will be attained and the four years at Highland High School will surely be looked upon as "THE BEST YEARS OF OUR LIVES."

The Rev. Judy Mead in the commencement Baccalaureate address emphasized one's choice of values—set a goal followed with full committment.

DENVER BRONCO COACH and general manager John Ralston re-emphasized the concept of goals and the direction in the pursuit of a career—having a plan, having goals, and some direction. Referring to the seniors, he said, "If they have the goals and the commitment, we could help them to get there."

His magic word is A-T-T-I-T-U-D-E. "If you have the ATTITUDE, I know they will go whatever direction they choose—have the attitude toward the learning experience. It is the state of mind indicating action."

He heartily agreed with the statement: "Anything you vividly imagine, ardently desire, sincerely believe, and enthusiastically act upon, must INEVITABLY come to pass."

"I hope our seniors have a plan, that they have the attitude and reinforce it—as it will need reinforcement as they go through life."

The STAY program continues to expand, both its members and activities, after nearing the end of its third year.

The students in the program include freshmen through seniors. The freshmen and sophomores receive individual and group help while they have a full day of school, and the juniors and seniors go to school in the morning and work in the afternoon where they receive valuable training towards a vocational skill.

Already the juniors are planning for an exciting final year, making the STAY staff and students eager to take part.

Some of the highlights of the '73-'74 year included: made over 600 burrittos and baked potatoes for a football game, seniors went to a rock concert, visited disabled veterans at Fitzsimmons Army Hospital, and had the annual tubing trip at Bear Lake.
